Multi-tasking

Those who worked with me often describe me as the most reliable teammate! Because they know, I would make things work well.

During my study at the New Media Design and Web Development program at BCIT, there was even a joke phrase called 'WWSD' - meaning "What Would Shela Do" when facing challenging coursework, because I always manage my work well ahead of deadlines. In Term 2 I was Project Managers for 4 projects simultaneously. Humbly thankful for my classmates recognizing my ability and effort!

Goals

My goal is to be the
UX/UI Lead Designer
in a reputable corporation,
and establish my online business in New Media and Design Industry.

Interim goals

9

Short-term goal

Getting hired in agency firms in Vancouver.

Gaining experience and establish myself as a designer in the New Media industry.

Mid-term goal

Becoming Senior UX/UI Designer in reputable companies.

Raising my visibility by establishing my online presence with blogging or vlogging in Youtube and my website.

Concept & Development

Many logos were sketched with the concepts of utilizing the initials "S" & "Y", and the sound of the surname "Yuen" in Cantonese is equivalent to "Circle".

At last, the concept of Tangram and Colourblock is used to represent me. The initials S & Y are deformed into abstracts, into 2 halves of a circle, triangle and rectangle respectively. Tangram symbolizes what Shela is good at: associating ideas into new solutions! And Colourblocks are just, FUN!
